Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

I know a red-headed kid in this town who has worked for a corporation for 20 years on a hop, skip and jump schedule, but who always landed on his feet. He's still going strong, although not so young as he used to be. Life for him began away before 40. That's why he was so well prepared for the position he has when he was 40—if he is. But it is comforting to one who has delivered the goods to receive and be entitled to commendatory appreciation from those who have observed your action. It helps you over rough spots. It is in the latter part of your years to re-read what the other fellow thought of you.

I have a good friend over at Seal Beach who isn't in as good health as I would like to see him. Our friendship started away back in a midwest town, and became closer as my friend's son started his apprenticeship in the shop I was trying to put some life into. John Fisher, father of Carl Fisher, member of The Journal mechanical staff, had his headquarters across the street from the newspaper office. When John wasn't out fighting fires I would be pestering around the department headquarters. Then came the change to the west coast. Then, unfortunately, came a change in John's health, and that's what's worrying me. I hope science won't be too late to overcome his affliction.

Well, there's one thing that offers some comfort to the fellow who objects to paying taxes. He won't have to if he leaves no estate.

And remember that while it is only some 150 days before Christmas, that the first half of your taxes comes before Santa Claus, if that's any aid.

This is the way I heard it: Two merchants in conversation. One says, "How's business?" "Even," said the other. "What do you mean even?" replied his friend. "Even worse than it was."

On one of the busiest residential corners, an elderly couple build a fine home. None of that secluded, pastoral stuff for them. They want to be where the wheels go 'round, and the brakes screech, and the sirens pierce the air, and occasionally a quartette sings "Sweet Adeline." The spirit of youth! That couple would make good members of the Breakfast club.

Ted Craig, Brea, former speaker of the assembly, is wandering about. Not lost in the big county seat town; just meditating, and politically ruminating as to what is and what used to be. I left a little optimism with him and while he was talking to me he acted like he was in accord. "Don't know what he thought three blocks distant."

Authorities are to be commended for supervised playgrounds, where the kiddies can enjoy themselves with safety, and mother's mental attitude will be more compliant. School vacation always increases the traffic hazard for children.

Charley Neer has such a variety of lead pencils on display window at Dale Winterbourn's, that Dale will soon have to put in another window. Neer has a hobby for collecting advertising lead pencils. He asked me to make an inspection from the outside. Consequently I'm using the same lead pencil I had before the inspection took place. You see Neer is a policeman and he doesn't take any risks.

You can't kill a basically sound industry. Sale of a ten-acre Valencia orange grove in the Fullerton district for $3800 per acre is proof that low prices for fruit is not a discouraging influence when it comes to investment. The long established value of well selected orange land has held firm all through the years of varying business conditions. At the height of depressions owners have held their acreage from the market. Distress sales always occur, but highly developed property was not sacrificed.

When one glances at the maps the distance from Paris to Berlin isn't much more than a hop, and from Berlin to Moscow a skip, but from Moscow across Siberia that's going some for distance, and Howard Hughes better have plenty of gas. It isn't such a happy outlook across the frozen wastes of the Arctic Circle, Canada and Alaska. But somehow or other his friends have a hunch and hope that he will be back (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

New Deal Wins Oklahoma Vote By Wide Margin

F. D. R. Foe Runs Third In Primary

OKLAHOMA CITY. (AP)—Senator Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma's silver-haired New Deal favorite, widened his commanding lead today over two primary opponents in the first ballot-box test of President Roosevelt's political speaking tour.

Former Gov. W. H. "Alfalfa" Bill Murray, frowned upon by the President as "nationally known as a Republican," was running third for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

"OLD FRIEND" Senator Thomas, seeking renomination for a third term, was acclaimed "my old friend" by the President. In his speech here Saturday, Mr. Roosevelt made only passing mention of E. W. Marland, New Deal governor running third to Thomas.

He offered no back-pat at all to Rep. Gomer Smith, apparent runner-up in the senate race. Smith voted against the President's reorganization bill and the administration farm act.

The unofficial count in 2487 of the state's 3522 precincts gave Thomas 158,379, Smith 118,321 and Marland 73,544.

PHILLIPS LEADS Leon C. Phillips of Okemah, a New Deal legislator, pulled ahead of Murray and W. S. Key, former state WPA administrator, in the gubernatorial contest.

Murray, no New Dealer, introduced Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee, for a speech here in the 1938 presidential campaign.

The count in 2551 precincts gave Phillips 119,803 votes; Key 111,607 and Murray 99,388. Two other aspirants, former governor Jack Walton and Ira Finley, president of the Veterans of Industry of America, were hopelessly behind, the former with 27,826 and Finley with 20,646.

INCUMBENTS LEAD Eight Democratic congressmen running for renomination held snug leads. For the fifth district seat, vacated when Rep. Smith died for the senate, T. Bone McDonald, Edmond local conservationist, and Mike Monroney, young Oklahoma City furniture dealer, vied for top position.

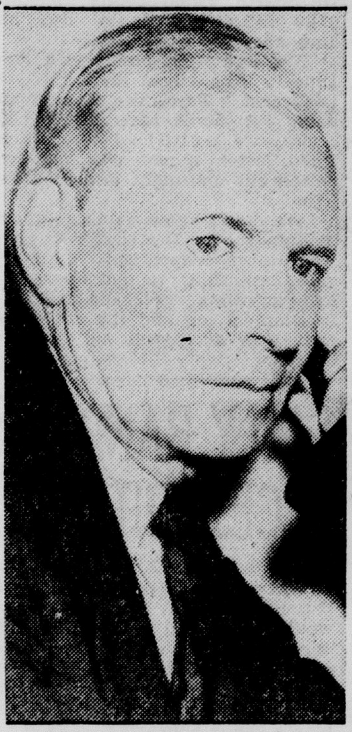

On the Republican side, where voting was light in contrast to the heavy flood of Democratic ballots, Harry O. Glasser of Enid was leading three rivals for the senate nomination and Ross Rizley, former state senator of Guymon, paced a field of three for the gubernatorial nomination.

FILM SWINDLE PLAN IS TOLD LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A film studio technician, George Donald Smart, took the witness stand today and confirmed in detail the story of how he tried to "kite" into a $100,000 fortune a series of promissory notes on which he had forged the name of Louis B. Mayer, head of M-G-M studio.

Smart waived preliminary hearing and said he would plead guilty in superior court July 20.

He declared repeatedly no blame was to be attached to Layne Britton, make-up artist, his co-defendant in grand theft and forgery charges. Britton, he said, was an unwitting tool who thought the whole series of transactions was a "gag" and received no money. A preliminary hearing for Britton was set for next Tuesday, at Britton's request.

"I did the whole thing myself and no one else is involved," said Smart.

Senator Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma, whose victory at the polls yesterday is seen as a New Deal endorsement by that state.

200,000 IN FRANCO ARMY

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier). (AP)—Insurgent Generalissimo Franco was reported today to have taken personal command of a unified army of 200,000 men for a grand offensive against Valencia from three directions.

During a comparative lull in the fighting yesterday he was said to have effected coordination between General Miguel Aranda's corps on the eastern flank near the Mediterranean coast, General Garcia Valino's central corps in the Ebro mountains and General Jose Varela's western-flank corps south and north of Teruel.

Opposing these government forces, General Jose Miaja was said to have massed more than 250,000 men, with 200,000 concentrated along the strategic highway and railroad from More de Rubielos to Sagunto, junction of the Castellon-Valencia and Teruel-Mediterranean highways 14 miles north of Valencia.

British Boys Flee Farm, House Told

LONDON. (AP)—Former Prime Minister David Lloyd George declared today that British youth was "fleeing the (farm) land as if from a plague." He made the statement in a house of commons debate on the government's agricultural policy.

Farmers, the white-maned wartime premier said, "are seething with discontent, and the whole country is alarmed at the neglect by the government of measures for putting us in a position in the event of war which would spare the country the horrors of starvation and the dread of having to surrender because our people could not be fed."

Catches 'Last Fish' And Then He Dies

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—As he embarked on a fishing trip, Axel William Johnson, 80, said, "I'd like to catch one more fish before I give up this sport."

He caught a 10-pound Muckelunge. Seconds later he dropped dead of a heart attack.

SEN. BORAH IMPROVES WASHINGTON. (AP)—Friends said today the condition of Senator Borah (R., Idaho) was greatly improved. He collapsed 10 days ago from overwork.

Riverside Loses PWA Grant Because Lobbyist Employed WASHINGTON. (AP)—Administrator Ickes today suspended an application from Riverside, Calif., for a $953,520 PWA allotment for a sewer system "because the city contracted with a lobbyist to obtain approval" of the project.

KIDNAPING CONFESSION PROVES HOAX

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Dr. M. W. Conway, superintendent of the Eastern Washington hospital for mental cases, said today Frank Olson, questioned about the kidnapping of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, was an inmate of the hospital when the kidnapping occurred, Dec. 27, 1936, and had been since 1925.

"Olson's real name is Lester Mead," Dr. Conway said. "I talked to federal bureau of investigation men in Tacoma this morning and there is no doubt as to the identity."

WON'T BE CHARGED TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Chief William Cole of the Washington highway patrol announced today he was convinced a man of many aliases, who yesterday confessed the kidnapping, was a "mental case and had no part in the crime."

Cole said the man, who gave his name as Clarence White, Clarence Thorp, Clarence Mead and Frank Olson, would not be charged with the kidnapping and slaying of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, but would probably be given a sanity hearing.

4-DAY QUESTIONING Cole reached this decision, he said, after four days of almost constant questioning, during which the man had changed his statements about the kidnapping a dozen times and had involved several persons who were later found to have alibis.

Cole said the federal bureau of investigation had taken part in the questioning, but expressed no further interest in the man.

Cole, who announced Olson's confession last night, said the prisoner's description tallied closely with that of the man sought for the abduction but that many portions of his story did not check with known facts of the case. He refused to outline them.

Security Board in Year Pays 271 Millions to States WASHINGTON. (AP)—The social security board paid $271,494,500 in the fiscal year ended June 30 to help states finance old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to blind, and blind and related services.

6-HOUR RAID ON CANTON

CANTON, China. (AP)—Air raid alarms shrilled continuously for six hours this morning as Japanese warplanes struck throughout the Canton area for the second successive day.

Fifty-two were killed and probably 200 injured in yesterday's raids about the South China city's Wengshai railway station.

Fifty planes swept over Canton three times in this morning's attack, bombing intensively. They also bombed Whampoa, Honam and Fatsan, and proceeded up the Canton railway to Lokchong and Yingtak.

White Sage Honey Crop Held Failure LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Hamilton and Company, honey shippers, reported today that "early conditions indicated there would be a good crop of extra white sage honey such as produced last year, atmospheric conditions were not favorable and we believe that this variety can be considered as practically a failure."

BABS DROPS CHARGE, HINTS DIVORCE PLAN

LONDON. (AP)—The former Barbara Hutton dropped a criminal charge against her titled Danish husband today with indications that a separation or divorce proceedings would be the next step in her turbulent married life.

The surprise ending of what one of the lawyers called "a most unhappy case" came as her second husband, Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, reappeared in the shabby Bow street police court dock and prepared to defend himself against the charge that he had threatened the American-born Woolworth heiress.

NO RECONCILIATION Solicitors, announcing an agreement under which the 42-year-old count promised to stay away from Countess Barbara's London mansion and not communicate with her, indicated no reconciliation was in prospect.

The countess's counsel indicated to the judge that the mysterious "gentleman in London" whom the count was accused of threatening to shoot, did not come into her life until after she had quarreled with her husband.

CROWD DISAPPOINTED The countess's attorney, Sir Patrick Hastings, hinted at a shift of the marital dispute to Danish courts in telling given then that any separation proceedings would be subject to Danish law.

The sudden ending of the case disappointed a crowd jamming the tiny court room in the hope of finding out the name of the mysterious "London society gentleman" whom the count was accused of threatening to "shoot like a dog."

But Countess Barbara's attorney said she already had quarreled with the count before she met this "mysterious person."

BABS STAYS HOME Testimony was given then that she offered him $250,000 and demanded $5,000,000 and custody of their two-year-old son, Lance, in return for divorce.

Countess Barbara, who sat through last week's spacy hearing, said she was well-guarded Winfield mansion today with the son, whom she has made a ward in chancery to keep him out of the court's hands.

The settlement today deprived the count of an opportunity of defending himself personally against the charge, but his counsel asserted he had no intention of threatening the safety of his wife or doing her bodily harm.

Flier's Widow Sues M-G-M for Million

NEW YORK. (AP)—The widow of Jimmy Collins, who plunged to his death years ago in a powerful test of a naval plane, today filed a million-dollar suit against Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, motion picture firm, alleging that the company was guilty of plagiarism and unfair competition in producing the movie, "Test Pilot."

The widow, Mrs. Dolores Lacy Collins Henderson, of Detroit, claimed through her attorney, Harry Weinberger, that the company based its picture on a book of the same name written partly by her husband and finished after his death.

Ocean Yields Two Bodies at L. B.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Police said a body recovered from the Pacific today had been identified as that of Dale Adams, 23, Milwaukee, who had been visiting friends in nearby Compton. He drowned while swimming.

Also recovered was the body of Howard Shimmering, 17, Bellflower, who drowned in Colorado Lagoon Monday night.

30 HURT AS 900 WESTWOOD MEN PURGE TOWN OF C. I. O.

WESTWOOD. (AP)—One man was shot in the arm and 30 or more were beaten in a "purge" of CIO unionists by citizens and members of an independent union in this lumber producing town today.

Nearly 500 men drove about 215 CIO unionists and organizers from the town with the warning "don't come back!"

Fire hoses were turned on the evicted men and crowds went to houses were CIO families were known to reside and drove them from the town.

The Red river lumber mills were closed Monday after a wage dispute.

SANTA ANA NOT FIND BODY OF NEWPORT MAN

Unless he changes his itinerary at the eleventh hour, President Roosevelt and his party will pass through only the beach communities of Orange county on his trip between Los Angeles and San Diego Saturday.

No word has been received from B. Z. McKinney and other Democratic leaders, who had arranged plans for a welcoming committee in Santa Ana.

After remaining in his railway car in Los Angeles until about 10 a. m. Saturday, the Associated Press said today, the President will travel by automobile along the following route:

Fourth street to Broadway, thence south to Washington blvd., west to Flower, south to Figueroa, on south to Harbor blvd., south to Roosevelt highway (101), to American avenue, to Ocean avenue, to Livingston drive, to east Second street, back to Roosevelt highway, and thence to San Diego.

Two Holdup Men Guilty of Murder LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A jury found Harry Groves and George Braum guilty of murder in the first degree today in the $48 hold-up killing of Presley B. Stewart in his Whittier boulevard cafe last March 19, and set the penalty at life imprisonment. The jury acquitted Groves' wife.

While this man was getting the bum's rush, protesting crowds were milling outside the hall. The Fascists organized into National Unity Party and named as leader, Adrien Arcand, a Montreal editor.

Round-Globe Trip Scheduled to Take Less Than 4 Days

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The coast guard cutter Spencer reported to headquarters today that Howard Hughes' plane was 930 miles from Fairbanks at 2:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time. The Spencer is at Unalakleet.

HOME TOMORROW NEW YORK. (AP)—Experts at Howard Hughes' flight headquarters estimated today that the 'round-the-world fliers would reach Fairbanks, Alaska, at 7 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, (4 p. m. Pacific Time) and would be ready to take-off again for New York at 9 p. m.

If Hughes and his men are able to maintain such a schedule, they will return to their starting place about noon tomorrow, less than four days since they started eastward across the Atlantic.

FOG, RAIN AHEAD YAKUTSK, Siberia. (AP)—Howard Hughes, took off for Fairbanks, Alaska, at 8:01 p. m., tonight 4:01 a. m. PST) on the fifth leg of his attempt to set a new record for round-the-world flight.

Reports of good weather were received from points as far as the Behring Strait but fog and rain were reported on the Alaskan side. The American airman and his four companions had remained at Yakutsk only two hours 53 minutes after completing their 2177-mile hop from Omsk, western Siberia.

READY FOR EMERGENCY Hughes' course traverses some 7000 miles of Soviet territory, and before leaving Yakutsk he telegraphed thanks to Moscow aviation authorities for their cooperation.

Hughes planned to make Yakutsk his last stop in Soviet Russian territory. He plotted a course of 2456 miles to Fairbanks, across the northeastern tip of Siberia and the Bering sea.

However, preparations for an emergency landing have been made at Anadyrsk in case of necessity.

AHEAD OF POST TIME Leaving Yakutsk just 60 hours 41 minutes after their takeoff from New York and with two-thirds of the flight completed, Hughes and his companions were far ahead of the time of the late Wiley Post, who girded the globe alone in seven days 18 hours 48 minutes in 1933.

(Post flew a different course across Siberia, but his takeoff from Khabarovsk, approximately the same distance from New York as Yakutsk, came 113 hours 58 minutes after his New York take-off. He had stopped only two hours 13 minutes at Khabarovsk.)

TWO CHILDREN DROWNED WILMINGTON, Calif. (AP)—Robert Halliday, 6, and his sister, Wilona, 7, drowned when they slipped from a makeshift raft into a harbor district slough last night.

President Presented With Petition Asking Him To Seek 3rd Term

F. D. R. CROSSES NEVADA TODAY TO CALIFORNIA

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRAIN EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Bearing a petition from a steelworkers' club urging him to seek a third presidential term, President Roosevelt stopped early today at Salt Lake City where his daughter and son-in-law boarded his special train, then headed again westward to Nevada.

On board when the train left Salt Lake City at 4:45 a. m. (M. S. T.) after a ten-minute check-up were Mrs. Anna Roosevelt, Dall Boettiger, and her husband, John Boettiger, Seattle publisher, who came by plane last night to meet the train.

NO COMMENT
The presidential special left Colorado last night where the President received without comment at Pueblo, Colo., yesterday a petition requesting his candidacy in 1940 from the Colorado Fuel and Iron Workers club.

The petition, representing 4000 public steelworkers, declared "we are fearful for the welfare of the United States as well as for the peace of the world if one less courageous, determined and intelligent were elected in 1940 to guide the destiny of this country."

The Steelworkers club is a social organization of employees in the CFI mills in Pueblo.

Mr. Roosevelt will make a platform appearance at Reno, Nev. No appearances were scheduled in Utah, because of the early morning hours.

Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, seeking re-nomination, was to join the presidential party at Ogden, Utah. Albert Hilliard, opposing McCarran, planned to come aboard later in the day at Carlin, Nevada.

POSITION UNCERTAIN
McCarran opposed the President's court reorganization plan and other administration measures. Hilliard is the son of Judge Benjamin C. Hilliard of the Colorado supreme court, a candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Colorado.

What step, if any, the President would take in the Nevada situation was very much in doubt. The President will have an opportunity to talk it over with Chairman George L. Swartz of the state Democratic committee, who joins the train at Carlin and with Governor Richard Kimman, who comes on board at Imlay.

The Truckee, Calif., stop will be the President's first on this trip in the home territory of Senator William G. McAdoo, a down-the-line administration supporter. McAdoo is opposed by Sheridan Downey, a follower of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old-age pension advocate.

4 SHIPS SAIL WITH ORANGES

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Three vessels will sail tomorrow night and a fourth Saturday, boosting materially this port's seasonal total of citrus exports to Europe-United Kingdom markets. A total of 190,000 boxes, chiefly Valencia oranges, will be put in the refrigerator vessels.

The Danish Flag Canadian Reefer with 41,000 boxes for Le Havre and Dunkirk; the Norwegian carrier Oregon Express, with 43,000 boxes for British ports and the continent; and the North German Lloyd liner Uim, with 46,000 for Antwerp sail tomorrow. The American Reefer, sailing Saturday, will carry a 60,000-box cargo for the United Kingdom.

The four shiploads will raise the port's July total to approximately 400,000 boxes, and will bring the season's movement to the United Kingdom-Europe range to more than 2,626,000 boxes, or within sight of the 1935 season's all-time record of 2,916,000 boxes.

Texas Rain Drenches Roosevelt

Twenty-four blocks in an open auto in a driving rain left President Roosevelt rain-soaked by the time he reached the speaker's platform for his address at Amarillo, Tex. It was the first inclement weather on his trip. The President is shown with Mayor Ross D. Rogers of Amarillo. Roosevelt's listeners were more pleased than annoyed by the rain.

MOTOR-MINDED Prince Bertil of Sweden climbed into a locomotive cab and took a lesson in train running from an expert, H. L. Pecky of Wilmington, Del. This was just before the prince left Washington to return to New York.

'CANADA FOR CANADIANS' is slogan of Canadian Fascists who organized at Kingston, Ont., as National Unity party with Joseph Farr (right) directing the procedure. The new leader, Adrian Arcand (second from left), declared that Fascism will enable Canada to reconquer its territory from "red clutches of Moscow and international Jewry." About 1,500 attended meeting.

Prepare For Presidential Review

With some 70 fighting craft of the United States navy to be in San Francisco bay for a review by President Roosevelt, the ships are undergoing additional polishing in preparation for the event. Above, three sailors on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania give an additional shine to the already shining 14-inch guns.

BID OF L. A. FIRM ON PRADO JOB FAVORED

Construction on Orange county's $15,000,000 flood control program may start within two weeks.

County supervisors yesterday ordered returned to 10 unsuccessful bidders their checks, and kept only one deposit, tantamount to awarding the contract for moving the Santa Fe railroad and Santa Ana canyon highway to make room for Prado dam in the canyon. Person and Hollingsworth and Wilbur C. Cole of Los Angeles, low bidders at $241,183.59, will be awarded the contract for the railroad and highway moving just as soon as approval is received from Sacramento. Supervisors said final approval had not yet come through, but that state officials had indicated the Los Angeles firm would get the state's okay as contractors on the quarter-million-dollar job.

The contractors will be ready to start work within 10 days after the contract is let, supervisors said they understood. The contract may be let any day, since the county board is meeting daily as a board of equalization on assessment matters.

With the railroad and highway out of the way, contractors who get the $7,000,000 job of building Prado dam will be able to go into action. Bids for the dam job are expected to be called by army engineers in less than two months. Prado is the largest link in the $15,000,000 flood control program authorized last year when county voters gave approval to a $2,500,000 bond issue. With the money borrowed in sale of the bonds—$1,455,000 already have been sold—the county will pay for the moving job and is acquiring land and rights-of-way for the actual dam work, to be done by the army with federal funds. A first apportionment of funds already has been made to start the project.

SLAIN MAN IDENTIFIED
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The state highway patrol announced today Robert Thomas Lance, 29, fatally shot by a patrolman June 29 after a $4 restaurant holdup, had been identified as an escaped convict from Arizona state penitentiary.

Stocking sizes are given in terms of inches—a size 10 stocking being 10 inches long.

Curb Service for Violators of Ohio City's Traffic Law

CLEVELAND. (AP)—Violators of Cleveland's traffic regulations received "curb service" at busy intersections today.

The city opened what officials said was the first rolling police station in the nation. A four-man police bureau on wheels not only arrested drivers, but charged them with violations on the spot of their offense, booked and released them on bond for appearance in police court.

John R. Sammon, deputy traffic commissioner who devised the portable enforcement method, said "getting the cases while they're hot" speeds up police work.

STONE COFFIN SLAYER GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP)—John F. Bathelt, 26, of New York, today pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the "cement coffin" slaying of Charles Morris, New York race track follower, and was sentenced by Judge Thomas Hammond to life imprisonment in a court session lasting only 10 minutes.

Arraigned on an indictment charging him with the murder, Bathelt calmly pleaded his guilt and was immediately sentenced.

This sudden shift in the mysterious case had the effect of shutting off for the time being at least any explanation of the slaying. Morris' body was found three weeks ago in the Connecticut river, bound with wire to which bits of cement still clung.

State Detective Maurice Nelligan and Police Chief John J. Sullivan of South Hadley, Mass., learned Bathelt was a former companion of the dead man. They located him in New York and he volunteered to return to "help" them find the slayer.

After a few hours of questioning, Nelligan arrested him and charged him with being the slayer.

Bathelt's actress-wife, whom he had married only a short time after Morris is believed to have been slain in 1937, was not in court today.

Two state alienists earlier today had declared Bathelt sane.

3 WHO TOOK YACHT SAIL TO SAN PEDRO

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Three youths who "borrowed" a Santa Cruz yacht for a summer cruise to the South Seas docked here today, in custody of the craft's owner and thoroughly sick of adventure and beans.

Lew K. Foote, Santa Cruz confecturer, put into Los Angeles harbor with the Tira, in which Lyle Tara, 17, William Grace, 16 and James Henninger, 17, sailed to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, 1500 miles from Santa Cruz, before they were sighted.

"We had been planning a long time to take a boat and sail down the coast," Tara, the spokesman, said. "At home, after high school hours, we studied navigation. Then, after school was out, we rowed out one night and took the Tira."

"We didn't know anything about sailing, so for the first few days we just experimented. We didn't want anything to go wrong or lose anything. We did lose the mechanical log and the skiff, but that was accidental and we are sorry."

SALLY RAND FACES SUIT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Twenty-two-year-old Hazel Drain said through her lawyer today she would sue Sally Rand, bubble dancer, for damages as the result of an altercation yesterday over candid camera snapshots to which Miss Rand objected, at the theater where she is appearing.

Miss Drain exhibited a bruised arm and charged Miss Rand bit her as they argued in a cloakroom of the theater.

As Miss Rand went through her act, she heard a camera click from the front row seats occupied by Miss Drain and her escort, Ray Stanford, 26. The dancer appealed to an usher to take charge of the camera, but he could not find it. Later, Miss Rand threw on some clothes and accosted the couple herself. She pursued them to the aisle into a cloak room.

A few minutes later, they emerged, with Miss Rand victorious. The film had been exposed.

Court Parts Man, 52, And His Bride Of Only 16 Years

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Constance Beam Knight, who married Harry Knight, 52, was described in court records today as a girl who entered marriage "as some sort of adventure without any intention of fulfilling the marriage contract."

Superior Judge Clement Shinn granted Knight an annulment of the marriage after he testified quarrels and misunderstandings arose soon after the wedding.

Knight also claimed his wife ran up a $40 telephone bill within a period of three weeks after the marriage, calling her former boy friends. He exhibited a book in which he said were the names of fifty of his wife's former boy friends.

P-T. A. DRAWS POLITICS LINE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The state board of managers of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers stood firm today on a policy prohibiting the endorsement of any candidate for public office.

To make its stand doubly clear, the board issued a statement quoting the organization's by-laws that "the name of the congress or of its branches or the name of any of its members in his or her official capacity shall not be used in any connection with any political interest."

Mrs. Bayless C. Clark of Sutter Creek, Amador county, who completed two terms as president of the state P-T. A. last year, issued a statement on her own behalf.

She said she was running for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor as "an independent citizen" and had resigned as national membership chairman of the P-T. A.

"My campaign is not involved with the congress, except insofar as I receive loyal support from my many friends within the group," she declared.

FARM PRICES' RISE BIG AID TO MID-WEST

CHICAGO. (AP)—A general recovery of major farm commodities' values during the past two months has increased prices 5 to 37 per cent and altered the 1938 agriculture outlook, an analysis of Chicago markets disclosed today.

Wholesale prices of nine important commodities which help to gauge the extent of farm prosperity have risen an average of 19 per cent since the broad upturn from a four-year low level began late in the spring.

Hogs and cattle, a major source of farm income, have led the upturn with a price increase of 24 to 31 per cent. Eggs are up 31 per cent. The important grains are 9 to 12 per cent higher than the 1938 lows reached scarcely six weeks ago.

The gradual rise of livestock quotations began almost a month before the recent sharp bulge in securities, confirming to some extent livestock experts' belief that the meat animal market is an important indicator of general business conditions.

Market statisticians said the price recovery may result in a revision of 1938 farm income prospects. The bureau of agricultural economics has forecast a reduction in cash income of about 11 per cent compared with the $8521,000,000 in 1937, which was the highest in eight years.

France Backs Warning To Germany With Arms Loan

ORGANIZATION OF NATION FOR WAR PLANNED

PARIS. (AP)—A scarcely-disguised French warning to Germany to keep hands off Czechoslovakia was given pointed significance today as France opened a campaign for a huge unlimited arms loan.

At the same time, Premier Edouard Daladier ordered publication in the official journal of a law detailing general organization for the nation in time of war.

Daladier, who as national defense minister and premier, guided the French rearmament program which in six months used up a 5,000,000,000-franc (about $138,500,000) loan issued only two months ago, declared the nation was ready to take strong action to prevent any German-Czechoslovak conflict.

The premier in an address last night held out an olive branch in one hand with a tribute to German "good will" in the face of strong French-British representation in May when fears were felt that German efforts to intervene on behalf of the Sudeten German minority in Czechoslovakia might bring war.

But Daladier also swore to uphold France's treaty with Czechoslovakia pledging armed aid to the central European democracy in case it was attacked.

Insistent reports in Paris of an acceleration of the pace of German military preparations caused ominous feelings in some quarters here.

The new French rearmament loan in 3 1/2 per cent bonds to go on sale Monday, will be negotiable with the Bank of France for 90 per cent of their value from the date of issue and for 95 per cent after six months. It was announced the previous loan, offered May 16 and bought up in one day, covered armament expenses from Jan. 1 to June 30.

The need for the new loan was considered particularly pressing in view of the fact it will be opened only a day before the scheduled arrival of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain for a state visit.

No limit was set on the amount of the issue, although the issuance of individual bonds with denominations as high as a million francs (about $27,758) indicated the government expected it to be heavy.

STATE AID FOR LEVEES PUT UP TO MERRIAM

Asking immediate allocation of state funds for the $700,000 job of restoring the flood-raised Santa Ana river levees, Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel of Anaheim, Chairman Willard Smith of the board of supervisors and Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson were to have an audience with Gov. Frank Merriam in Sacramento today.

The three Orange county men left for the capital last night, following appearance before the county board of 50 Anaheim women demanding action on levee repair.

Smith and Thompson were authorized by the board to attend with expenses paid; Kuchel declined payment by the county of his expenses and said he would foot his own bill.

Kuchel was author of the measure passed by the assembly at a special session last March, appropriating $5,000,000 for flood repair. Supervisors have had their application in for months for funds to repair the levees, but have had no reply other than several requests for further information.

If the state's purse-strings can be loosened, the money could be used as a sponsor's share for a WPA project to do the work.

L. A. ASKS TAX CUT ON PLANT AT SEAL BEACH

Protesting against assessment of machinery in the $6,000,000 Seal Beach electric plant as improvements, the city of Los Angeles unlimbered its legal guns today before the board of supervisors, sitting as a board of equalization on Assessor James Sleeper's assessment roll.

Already pending before the state supreme court is the department of water and power's protest last year; and today's hearing, like a $41,688.10 tax return suit filed last month, is to protest the city's interests should the supreme court rule in its favor.

Sleeper, when public utilities were returned to local tax rolls last year, classified more than $5,000,000 worth of machinery as improvements to real property.

Had he called the machinery personal property, it would be exempt from taxation because it is owned by a municipal corporation. Los Angeles claims the machinery is personal property, and therefore tax-exempt. Assessed valuation of the machinery, on a 50 per cent cash value basis, is $2,535,160.

Sleeper's classification was upheld by supervisors here last year, and by the state board of equalization on appeal. A second appeal now is in the supreme court.

A ruling adverse to the county would result in loss of more than $40,000 annually in tax revenues. Should the supreme court rule against Sleeper, the county would have to return $41,688.10 tax paid last year on the machinery, and would be unable to collect a similar amount this year—which would cost county taxpayers more than 4 cents on each $100 assessed valuation of all property in the county.

Sleeper was sworn as a witness in today's hearing, presided over by Supervisor N. E. West as chairman pro tem of the board, and explained his assessment of the property. Judge Kenneth Scott appeared as counsel for the Los Angeles department, with Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner representing the county.

Supervisors were expected this afternoon to reject formally the Los Angeles claim, paving the way for another appeal to the state board if last year's case remains long undecided.

Fullerton Action, Starting in Fresno, Appealed Here
A much-traveled suit for $199 landed in superior court today on appeal from Fullerton justice court.

The plaintiff appealed today to the higher court.

Club Installs
And Fetes
Ladies

As is their annual custom, Twenty-Thirtians last night combined their formal installation of officers with "Ladies' Night" and invited wives and sweethearts to a dinner-dance at Los Serranos Country club. At the same time they established a significant new custom, that of awarding a handsome Twenty-Three plaque to the club's most outstanding and representative member. Paul Beckman was honored with the initial award.

The affair was particularly enjoyable, for informality reigned despite the seriousness of the inaugural procedure. Smart sports clothes were worn, and the dining tables featured low bowls of multi-hued summer flowers alternated by burning candles. Adding amusement to the affair was the playing of good music of "The Dons" orchestra at the spacious club.

Wyle Carlyle was presented the president's gavel by James Eugene Walker, retiring executive, and Tim Baker of Long Beach, lieutenant-governor of Twenty-Three club, officiated at the installation, presenting both old and new officers to the assembled group. He and Mrs. Baker were honored guests at the affair.

Taking over the office of first vice-president from Mr. Carlyle was Newell Vandermere. AUXILIARY IS PLANNING
INSTALLATION

American Legion auxiliary members are busily preparing for their unit installation which will be held August 4 at Veterans hall. The auxiliary drill team in its beautiful new uniforms will install the body of incoming officers.

The new uniforms of wool crepe with a satin blouse are light burnt orange and green to represent the leading industry of Orange county. The team, which Mrs. Alice Dodder is captain, and Mrs. Grace Sisson, business manager, is practicing twice a week now, and will soon have three practices a week in anticipation of its appearance at the national convention in Los Angeles in September.

At yesterday's county council meeting in Anaheim, the date for the county installation ceremonies was set for Sept. 13. Present from Santa Ana were the Mesdames Ann Leimer, Blanche Roepke, Tom Sander, Fannie Reeves, Matt, Ann Mathews, and Lillian Thorpe, a new member of the local auxiliary by transfer from the Garden Grove unit.

Following a delicious luncheon, Mrs. Sandon, who is twenty-first in the arrangement of flowers, reported that her membership list exceeded by six her quota. Mrs. Lillian Nicodemus, of Brea, council president, presided. Mrs. Pauline Cleary of Santa Ana, a member of the Tustin unit, who is district president, was guest of the day.

Mrs. Marjorie Peabody, education chairman, and her committee are busy this summer getting student loans through so that they will be effective next fall when schools and colleges open. One junior college loan and one university loan have been arranged through their efforts.

Harbormaster Thomas Bouchey

had a birthday on July Fourth, and the busy man could not leave his work to attend a birthday party until later in the week. His mother, Alice Bouchey, prepared a fine dinner in his honor, served at a charmingly decorated table in her home at Costa Mesa, with Tommy and his wife and his young lady daughter among the relatives and other guests present. Mr. Bouchey is very proud of his daughter, who has only lately come to make her home with her father and his wife after spending years with her maternal grandmother.

The birthday celebrant was born in Maine, and came to California when just a young man.

Dr. Julia Hinrichs is an artist in the arrangement of flowers. One day recently I walked into her place, and a low white pottery oval bowl with a most artistic bouquet caught my attention. A lovely big creamy magnolia bloom, stemless, rested in the water, backed by tall spikes of Michaelmas daisies, and among the blue flowers several stems of pure white glads rose to make a beautiful background.

Many grandmothers are spending their time entertaining their grandchildren this summer, among them Mrs. A. J. Bowen, who has her grand children at her home at Corona Del Mar cottage; Mrs. C. E. Utt, who has the Hess twins, Rosa and Mary Louise, in her home, and Mrs. Mary Robertson, who has the Orlo Householder children two or three days each week in Balboa.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan A. Revill have a very interesting water-color painting, the work of Mrs. Revill's uncle, Linus Park of Orlando, Fla. The artist began his art work when he was 61 years old, and the sketch is realistic and unique. It is of an old camp chair upon which rests a shabby pair of man's shoes. On the back of it is the following original rhyme, written out and signed with a snapshot of the Park couple:

"THE COLONEL'S SHOES"
Our walk through life is at an end
Because we're just too bad to mend.

In former days we had a shine,
Not often—the Colonel lacked the time.

A shine is had from corn, you see,
We rubbed a corn on every toe!
Corn in kernels fills the bin,
But the Colonel has a lot in him!
They tied us on, one wedding day,
To a bridegroom's coach that went away.

But now we're framed, it's evident
We'll locate here as permanent!

Stood beside a pleasant blonde lady in a store one day and said,
"You are Patsy Swales Smith, aren't you?" She smiled and said,
"I knew you'd say that!" Her mother, Mrs. L. G. Swales, whom she resembles, said I was the third person to call her Swales, and Patsy was pleased that I remembered her whole name. Popular in Santa Ana for years, Mrs. Smith is back for a visit. Incidentally, the highlight in her mother's costume on a recent afternoon was a "cutie" little red hat, worn with a blue costume, and a gorgeous big red tuberosa begonia bloom worn as a corsage.

When the Theo Winbglers reached the Peter Pan club on their recent trip they were invited to be present at a chamber of commerce banquet given by San Bernardino county.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Copeland mentioned a few weeks ago has found a home in the Balboa summer cottage of F. S. Hart, "Hart Heaven." His young daughter's room has several pieces of Chinese red furniture, and the piano adds to the beauty of the room.

Dinner and a most restful, satisfying conversational afternoon at the Tessmann home was enjoyed Sunday. I noticed some beautiful Godey's colored prints framed in narrow bands of copper that were very pleasing.

Mrs. Tessmann showed me lovely Russian antiques given her by her husband, among them an icon, Byzantine design which is several years old. A salad dish and tiny spoon are of metal, covered with tiny enamel flowers, the cup the shape of a cruz, and the whole "objet de art" dated 1726!

Speaking of antiques, Alma Karlsson has a copper coffee pot that belonged to her grandmother and was brought from Sweden 100 years ago.

More modern is Alma's hobby of collecting animal and bird figures of every kind. One tiny canary is a lovely bit of bisque. One of the most unique is a cat, white with green eyes, that contains a light bulb for a bedside table. It is a Parisian importation.

Looking at these lovely bits formed part of an evening's enter-

GRANDMOTHER
IS HONORED
ON BIRTHDAY

To honor their grandmother on her 75th birthday, Mrs. R. Andersen's four grandchildren and their families met Sunday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walde V. Andersen, 617 North Van Ness street, where a lovely supper party was followed by an evening of bridge for the grown-ups and games for the children.

Prettily arranged bouquets of mixed flowers were about the house. A decorated angel food cake topped with pink and green candles was the highlight of the refreshment course. The four grandchildren, Norma Jane and Bobbie Andersen, Curtis Gene Falkenberg and Wilbur Lee Andersen sang "Happy Birthday Deary Grandmother" and presented high score at prizes to Mrs. T. S. Hunter at contract, Mrs. Clyde Files at rummy, and Mrs. John Cleary at auction.

ONE-YEAR-OLD
HAS FESTIVE
BIRTHDAY PARTY

The first birthday anniversary of little Miss Diane Lee Hamann on July eighth was gaily celebrated when her grandmother, Mrs. E. A. Pagenkopp, presided over a garden party in her honor.

Colorful umbrellas and growing flowers made an effective background for the toddlers and their mothers, who were served a dainty refreshment course on trays. The youngsters were given presents and shovels and had a merry time playing in the sandpile.

When Diane's birthday cake was served it was found that "Diane and Pat" had been written in pink and white letters on it, and thus the party was a celebration of little Pat Nolan's first anniversary too.

Present with Mrs. Rhines, Diane, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Joseph Hamann, were Mrs. Claude Bolton with Janice, Mrs. Burley Deane with her children, Mrs. George Sommers with Diane, Mrs. Neil Shaw with Karen, Mrs. Hestro Collins with Dickie, Mrs. Henry Peterson with Carol Jane, Mrs. Curtis Pearson with Willard, and Mrs. Lawrence Haupert with Laura. All of the children, Mrs. P. H. Nolan and Pat of Midway City, Mrs. Maurice Price and Gayle of Bolsa, Mrs. O. H. Two outstanding speakers were heard. Mrs. C. E. Utt, state director of Christian citizenship, discussed the work of that committee. Dr. K. H. Sutherland gave a practical and interesting talk on social diseases and their treatment. Dr. Sutherland was presented by Miss Emily Cox, health chairman. Mrs. Linne Cruzen was program chairman of the day and Miss Minnie Holmes led devotions.

Although virtually every activity connected with the Eboli club, other than the naming of committees for the new year, has ceased for the summer months, there is one, perhaps most outstanding in the club, that continues.

The Day Nursery, a charitable institute for working mothers that is maintained by the Eboli club and other kind friends, finds its facilities even more in demand during the long months when mothers of small children often leave them at six o'clock in the morning, and do not call for them many times until the same hour in the evening.

To aid in its fine work, Mrs. T. R. Trawick, general chairman, today stressed her appeal for financial aid, which comes from the renewal of magazine subscriptions. She has named Mrs. Charles Rumell of 702 South Van Ness street as the Eboli Day Nursery's representative to be contacted by anyone wishing to renew any magazine subscription. Mrs. Rumell urges anyone planning to renew to call her 6246, and she will not only attend to the matter promptly, but will turn all commissions over to the Day Nursery.

Soda Fountain Service Offered

When something goes wrong at a soda fountain or a bar, the establishment must have prompt, efficient service, no matter whether it is night or day. Because if they can't serve drinks, they would have to close up. That's where Louis Ernst comes in. He is Orange county's soda fountain and draft beer specialist.

A phone call to Santa Ana 2464, night or day, will bring Louis Ernst in a hurry to repair the trouble. He is also an expert plumber, as frequently it is not just the carbonator or draft gas equipment which goes wrong. He also sells and installs soda fountain and draft beer equipment and is Orange county dealer for the world-famous Red Diamond fountain and draft gas, the gas which is used in 99 per cent of the fountains and bars.

Mr. Ernst says that fountains and bars sometime pick the most inconvenient times to go haywire. One night, almost at midnight, he had three different calls for help within a very few minutes, and he and his crew had the machines under control in a very short time.

Bargain Prices Offered Bowlers

Bargain prices are offered bowlers by the Santa Ana Bowling Academy—these prices being a 25 per cent of the usual charges if the bowler wants to use the alleys during the afternoon. As Orange county has dozens of competitive teams, any afternoon finds several members getting in their practice at the Academy's alleys, 406 West Fourth street, during the time while the bargain rates are on.

Although it is one of the oldest games known to man, bowling increases in popularity throughout the year. Nowadays there are many teams composed entirely of women, and every afternoon finds a fair bowler—or several—playing the pins at the West Fourth street alleys.

The younger generation is now taking heartily to bowling, and there are many junior teams in the league.

Trailers Grow In Popularity

As rapid in growth as the original automotive industry is the increase in the sale and use of trailers by so many people, according to R. L. Peterson, 1211 South Main street, Santa Ana, who is the Orange county distributor for the "Covered Wagon" and other famous makes of trailers.

Mr. Peterson, who is Orange county's pioneer trailer dealer, sells more of these vehicles than

Bad Brakes Take Heavy Death Toll

With modern high-speed cars brakes have become just as important as the motor under the hood, according to Bill Clarke, of Bill Clarke's Brake Service, 605 West 5th street, Santa Ana. With present day traffic as congested as it is, prompt stopping is as important as prompt starting. Each year the death toll from motor car accidents is greater than that from many wars fought in the past. Therefore, according to Clarke, it is the duty of every motorist to see that his brakes are in a condition where they will meet any emergency, for if they do not—another name or other names may be added to the grim roll of traffic victims.

Service and parts are offered for all types of hydraulic and mechanical brakes. Air brakes, such as used on large trucks and busses are also serviced. The firm carries a complete stock of "All-American Brake Blocks," parts and fluid for Wagner-Lockheed hydraulic brakes and for all other types of brakes. The phone number is Santa Ana 2200.

2 FEATURES AT BROADWAY

"Always Goodbye" says "hello" to motion picture audiences of Santa Ana when it starts its run at the Broadway theater.

The picture co-stars the popular experts of the deeper tones of screen dramatics, Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall. Ian Hunter heads the featured cast, aided by Cesar Romero, Lynn Bari and Binnie Barnes. The film offers the film debut of little 5-year-old Johnnie Russell, the Brooklyn tot who plays the focal role of the story.

Brian Donlevy is back with his old "feuding partner," Victor McLaglen, in "We're Going to Be Rich," which will be the second feature. But the feud this time assumes a different angle. McLaglen and Gracie Fields are co-starred in a story about a ne'er-do-well dreamer and his music-hall songstress wife. The locale is Australia and South Africa in the boom days of the "30's."

Tonight the Broadway shows for the last times "White Banners," a story of a mother's love from the pen of Lloyd C. Douglas with a cast headed by Jackie Cooper, Fay Bainter, Bonita Granville, Kay Johnson and Claude Rains. The companion feature is "Torchy Blane in Panama," newspaper drama, featuring Lola Lane and Paul Kelly.

MARCO POLO AT WALKER'S

To get 450 Chinese, 150 cowboys, 40 animal trainers, 200 technicians, three elephants, five camels, four leopards, two eagles, six vultures, 22 donkeys, 10 dogs and several thousand tons of equipment to a motion picture location is a task requiring the skilled coordination of an army staff headquarters.

That task was performed with neatness and dispatch for "The Adventures of Marco Polo," which comes to Walker's theater screen tomorrow.

Gary Cooper, Sigrid Gurie, the Norwegian discovery, and Basil Rathbone are among the featured actors in the well-known story. Gracie Allen, George Burns and Martha Raye, who starred in "College Holiday," head the all-star cast of the new Paramount musical comedy, "College Swing," which will open at the same time as "The Adventures of Marco Polo."

Place Sought On Plumbing Board

Application for a place on the county's board of plumbing inspectors by F. C. Anderson, 518 Beverly Place, was filed yesterday by county supervisors. Anderson's application bore endorsement of several other plumbers.

PLEA MADE FOR INCREASED COUNTY ADVERTISING BUDGET

$13,000 MORE
TO PROMOTE THIS SECTION

Request by the Associated Chambers of Commerce for a $13,000 increase in the county's advertising and promotion appropriation was received yesterday afternoon by county supervisors, who promised to take the matter up next month when they adopt the 1938-39 budget.

Frank Rospaw, Placentia weekly publisher and spokesman for the Associated delegation, made a plea for a one-cent tax rate to raise approximately $19,000 for county advertising, publicity and promotion during the next 12 months.

"REINVESTMENT"

Rospaw read a letter from the Associated's executive board, which had had the matter under consideration for several weeks, recommending that the present two-tenths of a cent levy for advertising be increased to a full cent.

"A reasonable proportion of the income of any institution should be reinvested," said the letter, "in a carefully planned promotion program. Orange county has disregarded this basic law of good business; the present levy of .002 representing a pitifully small fraction of the total tax demanded."

The present advertising budget, operated by V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange chamber of commerce and county publicity manager, amounts to about $6700 a year. When pledged contributions to state chamber of commerce and the All Year club are taken out, Johnson's office costs more than $1200 and has the spending of about $600, chamber of commerce representatives have pointed out.

BUDGET DETAILS

The letter, signed by Harry C. Arthur, chairman of the executive board, recommended that the $13,000 additional be spent as follows:

For direct advertising, including highway posters, entrance signs, signs designating points of interest and newspaper and magazine advertising, $5000. For publicity news releases and pictures, $3000. For advertising in connection with special events, conventions and fairs, $3000. For contact and follow-up activities—folders, letters, travel guides and tourist courtesies, $2000.

Opposition to the proposed one-cent tax was registered in a letter from the farm bureau, which opposed the tax increase. On the other side was the Orange county council of the American Legion, which endorsed the Associated Chambers of Commerce request.

When The Supervisors Met . . .

Two Supervisors Lead for Capitol, Hoping for Money

State officials in Sacramento will have two Orange county supervisors to deal with this week. Chairman Willard Smith left today for the capital seeking funds for rebuilding the flood-razed Santa Ana river levees, and Supervisor N. E. West will leave Friday, also in search of funds.

West was authorized by the board yesterday to go to Sacramento the end of the week to attempt to speed up allocation of $175,000 for paving the almost-completed South Main street extension, connecting the southern end of Main street, Santa Ana, with Corona del Mar on the coast highway.

The cutoff, constructed by WPA labor, is almost ready for paving, which the state must do. Money had been allocated for the paving, but it was taken out of the fund after the March flood. West hopes to get the $175,000 replaced, or at least to get the project on a priority list so it can be completed next spring.

Several hundred members of the Brotherhood of Protective Order Elks, No. 794, gave suitable recognition last evening to the 16 surviving charter members in a service introduced by one of the lodge's famous Duffy dinners, followed by regular meeting of the order, and vaudeville acts, presented by the entertainment chairman, John Miller.

Of the original 48 men who organized the lodge 36 years ago, but 16 remain. It was to these surviving charter members which A. J. Garraway addressed his remarks in a beautiful tribute to their contribution to the fraternal fellowship of the community. The men so honored last evening were:

Dr. R. A. Cushman, J. P. Greeley, William H. McClain, first secretary, Fred Ross, Park S. Roper, E. B. McKnight, V. M. Bishop, P. E. Reynolds, John W. Tubbs, Ike Fields, George E. Preble, sr., V. Y. Tubbs, George E. Peters, H. C. Dawes, Perry Lewis, K. E. Watson.

The arrangements for the observance was in charge of George E. Peters, who gave opportunity for the charter members to retrospect their impressions. He also acted as one of the liveliest hosts of the evening.

The highlight of the evening was left for Alex. Garraway, who sketched the past, reviewed the lodge progress and illuminated the passing years with its accomplishments, for which he gave credit all down the line from character member to the baby Elk.

In part Mr. Garraway said: "With a profound respect for their seniority, with a great admiration for their loyalty, with a deep appreciation for their service, we pay tribute to the charter members of this lodge."

"All that we as a lodge possess; this beautiful building and its equipment, the comfort and luxury of its furnishings, all have been made possible because these 48 men 36 years ago caught the impulse of this lodge."

"They set in motion the issue of Elkhod which we enjoy today. They have painted for us an unfinished picture, they have carved for us an unfinished statue, they have written for us an unfinished symphony, but they left their tools for us to carry on."

"We would fail utterly and miserably if we did not with greater emphasis pay tribute and full honor to those brothers who through the years have held membership only in our lodge."

County Saves Some Money

Saving of $900 a month to the county in its sponsor's contribution for the WPA sewing projects was made possible today as the state took over an even greater share of the expense for clothing repair.

Fred Jayne, head of the women's and professional division of the local WPA office, told county supervisors yesterday afternoon that instead of paying $1200 a month, as the county has been doing, only $300 a month would be required hereafter for payment of rent and utility bills for the projects.

Three hundred women, he said, now are employed on the projects, repairing clothing for distribution to welfare and SRA clients who would have no other way of getting clothes. The old $1200-a-month arrangement was scheduled to have run until next November.

Two New Fire Stations

Completion of construction on fire stations at Yorba Linda and San Juan Capistrano, in addition to improvement of a road around the Midway City station, was authorized yesterday by the board of supervisors.

Joe Scherman, state forester, who has been supervising construction of the Yorba Linda and Capistrano stations as WPA projects, told the board the buildings would be completed by Aug. 15 or Sept. 1. He asked authorization to spend about $1200 more for materials. Last year's appropriation was $2500.

Supervisors approved the request, and on motion of Supervisor John Mitchell, also directed Scherman to have the Midway City station and the adjoining residence connected by a road, which will cost about $300.

County to Sell Tiny Lots

County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb will auction off 115 "postage-stamp" lots in the Springdale district soon, under authorization voted yesterday afternoon by the board of supervisors.

The tiny lots, most of them having no ingress or street boundaries, were laid out years ago as oil lots. The oil prospects fizzled, and the lots are too small for anything else.

Lamb told supervisors he had bids of the customary $1 per lot, but the board decided he should advertise for bids and sell the lots publicly.

SUNSET BEACH WINS PLEA

Pleas of Sunset Beach residents for a lifeguard on their mile-long beach were answered yesterday afternoon when county supervisors authorized employment of an additional man for week-end duty.

Dana Lamb, chief of the coast patrol who already has two full-time assistants, was authorized to employ another man to work Saturdays, Sundays and holidays only. The part-time man will be paid $5 a day.

Barker Chairman Of Breakfasters

Hale T. Barker, newly elected president of the Santa Ana Breakfast club, will also be program chairman for the meeting to be held tomorrow morning at the Main cafe.

It will be a Barker meeting with all the rest of the Breakfasters "barking." Miss Margie Bowman, pupil of the John Sciarra accordion school, is to offer a few selections, Bonnie Lou Maddux will sing and dance. She is the Tennessee blue singer with the southern accent. Bob Andrews signs notice of the meeting as official secretary. Other officials are Frank Lockhart, callisthenics; Eddie Marble, song director.

CONGRESSMAN HERE

Congressman Harry Sheppard will make the Santa Ana post-office his headquarters until 5 this afternoon. He will visit with friends and acquaintances who call.

Suspect Arraigned On Girl's Charge

Charged with rape and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Juan Palacio, 38, 614 Central street, appeared before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison today for arraignment. Bail was set at $3000 and trial for 9 a. m. July 18.

"She will have to prove it," Palacio said today through a court interpreter after charges of his attacking a 12-year-old girl March 5 had been read.

$960 Suit Follows Tustin Auto Crash

Suit for $960 over an auto accident in Tustin Saturday was on file today in Santa Ana justice court against Roy Felton.

Plaintiff in the case is Leonard Doughty, driver of the other car, who claims Felton was at fault in the crash. Doughty said he sustained injuries to his left side and back.

In part Mr. Garraway said: "With a profound respect for their seniority, with a great admiration for their loyalty, with a deep appreciation for their service, we pay tribute to the charter members of this lodge."

"All that we as a lodge possess; this beautiful building and its equipment, the comfort and luxury of its furnishings, all have been made possible because these 48 men 36 years ago caught the impulse of this lodge."

"They set in motion the issue of Elkhod which we enjoy today. They have painted for us an unfinished picture, they have carved for us an unfinished statue, they have written for us an unfinished symphony, but they left their tools for us to carry on."

"We would fail utterly and miserably if we did not with greater emphasis pay tribute and full honor to those brothers who through the years have held membership only in our lodge."

He served for nearly two years as president of this young people's organization in Missouri before coming to California to become pastor of the local district council. Marie and Letha Mae Friend, his two young daughters, were entrusted to the care of an aunt during their parents' absence.

Charged with rape and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Juan Palacio, 38, 614 Central street, appeared before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison today for arraignment. Bail was set at $3000 and trial for 9 a. m. July 18.

"She will have to prove it," Palacio said today through a court interpreter after charges of his attacking a 12-year-old girl March 5 had been read.

$960 Suit Follows Tustin Auto Crash

Nevills Boat 'Lined' Past Colorado Rapids

This is how the boats of the Nevills expedition were "lined" around three impassable rapids that faced the scientists on a voyage from Green River, Utah, to Lee's Ferry, Ariz. Bill Gilson, San Francisco artist, braces one dripping foot against a rock as Don Harris, archeologist, aids from the stern.

First Plans Are Drafted For Christmas Shopping

Christmas shopping was being planned today by the county's early-birds—executives of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, who this week laid plans for their annual sale of Christmas seals.

First-class postage will be used on between 20,000 and 25,000 letters containing Christmas seals, to be mailed at Thanksgiving time, directors decided.

Financial reports for the first six months of 1938, revealed at this week's directors meeting, showed $4632.07 on hand the first of the year, $1823.39 received and $4797.94 paid out, leaving a balance on hand July 1 of $1637.32.

WALNUT GROUP WILL DISCUSS JOB PROBLEM

Directors of the walnut department of the Orange County Farm Bureau will meet at the farm bureau office next Tuesday at 2 p. m. to talk over informally problems of employment which developed at the time of the 1937 crop harvest.

Speakers will include: Mrs. Lillian B. Hill, attendance supervisor of the California department of education; Mr. Van der Land, state labor commissioner of this district; Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools; H. I. Ranney, attendance officer; W. O. Mendenhall, child supervisor of county schools; Roy Ferguson, California State employment service manager; and Matt Lujan and Steve Reyes, leaders of the Mexican people.

The meeting is called with the view of adjusting education requirements and other problems as related to labor supply from school children. Wage rates will not be discussed. Directors may bring interested growers with them.

Suspended Term Given Milk Man

Pleading guilty to violation of the state agricultural code by putting milk in a container labeled as property of another, Walter I. Ridgway was given a 30-day suspended sentence yesterday by Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison. Ridgway admitted that on July 7 he put milk in a container labeled "Comolac Service company." He must pay a fine at the rate of $5 a month, Judge Morrison ruled.

Court Cracks Down On Five Speeders

City Judge J. G. Mitchell "cracked down" on five speeders yesterday, two of them, Effie Kugnsdall of Santa Ana and Bill Atkinson of Los Angeles, being certified to the juvenile court. William E. White, route 1, box 70, Santa Ana, paid $6; Walter C. Bond, Pomona, $8, and David Roberts, Walnut Park, $8.

Fine to Be Paid At $5 Monthly Rate

Mateo Lopez, Santa Ana laborer, was given a three-month suspended jail sentence today by Justice Kenneth Morrison, but must pay a fine at the rate of $5 a month for assault and battery. Lopez and Petronilo Arriola, fellow laborer, engaged in a fight July 5 in which Arriola's arm was broken.

He fired the first shot through the bathroom window of the Earl Waffle home, Midway City, where he had been working. Calhoun said, as Dillinger stooped to pet a small dog in the backyard, then Calhoun walked to the door, and fired a second shot at the writhing body, it was reported.

He laid the gun down, walked briskly two blocks to a telephone and called Huntington Beach police with the news, "I've just shot a rat." He waited there for officers to arrest him.

County Riders Will Join In COAST RODEO

Orange county riders will be among cowboys from Santa Barbara to San Diego who will compete in the amateur rodeo on the Lawrence ranch, Oceanside, July 23-24.

The rodeo, which will be held in a 500-seat arena, will be in conjunction with a colorful night pageant, depicting Indian life in the Owens river valley back in the 1870's. More than 60 white persons and Indians will appear in the cast.

Amateurs throughout the southland have been invited to compete for $200 worth of trophies in the rodeo of eight events—bull riding, men's pony express, calf roping, stock show for men and women, women's pony express, trick horse acts, cowboy bucking, team roping and bulldozing. Among the trick horses will be "Rex," full black steed which its owner, Bill Neary, claims can do more than 30 tricks.

Entry blanks may be obtained from the Lawrence ranch, located one-fourth mile north of the main highway in Oceanside. Bill Shirley announced today. Shirley will have his collection of miniature carvings of western equipment on display during the show. Five acres of camp and trailer grounds will be available free, and all feed for horses will be furnished free, Shirley said.

Scout Executive's Selection Delayed

Appointment of a field executive for the Orange county Boy Scout organization will be delayed until after the national training school session in the East is completed, Maj. M. B. Wellington, prominent member of the scout council, related today.

It is likely that the council will choose a graduate of the school. The courses offered at the educational institution are designed to specifically train young men in scout leadership. The school operates during August.

How Will They Line Up 3 Days From Now, With All Votes In?

By GEORGE COVERDALE

If your Journal Courtesy and Efficiency contest nominee does not appear among the eight leaders pictured across the top of this page, this is an indication that you should get in touch with your candidate at once to see how you can put him into one of these preferred standings.

You can do this if you will act promptly. You have three whole days to land him on top before the race closes Saturday night. Three days constitute a long span as this contest goes, when you consider that as many as 40,000 votes have been amassed in a 24-hour period for a single candidate.

Add 40,000 votes to your favorite's score and see what his total would be. No doubt this would place him pretty close to the top position and anyway, it would line him up for one of those eight prizes he deserves for so faithfully serving you in the line of duty.

In brief, the prizes are: first, a trip to Seattle for two by United Airlines; second, seven-day trip for two to Camp Curry, Yosemite; third, three-day vacation for two to San Diego; fourth, an attractive garden furniture set; fifth, a camping outfit; sixth, a snappy sport coat; seventh, a fine flexible trout rod, reel and line and eighth, a camera.

Here are some of the runners-up, who, with your cooperation can acquire one of these prizes: Evelyn Bishop, Rossmore cafe; Asst. Jailer Frank Cagle; Russell Gundren, Alpha Beta market; Harriet Jones, Famous Department store; Madge Fellhauer, Montgomery-Ward; Ida Mae Jones, Sontag Drug store; Mae Thomas, registrar of voters; Gladys Marguerat, Walker's theater; E. E. Hill, Diamond Ice company; Lester Pearl, First National bank; Venna Goodwin, First Methodist church; Alice Skinner, North Main Medical building; Roda Ramlose, NuBone Corset company; Vera Solis, Union Dollar store and Lupe Rodriguez, El Faro market.

On the other hand, your favorite may be one of the eight leaders. This being the case, ask him if he's in the place he would like to be. Perhaps he would rather have the camping equipment than the sport coat, for example. Or maybe she would prefer the garden furniture to a fishing rod.

Irrespective as to where your candidate stands on the list, now is the time to see him and learn how you can be of assistance during the last three days of the campaign. You won't have to work long, but you must act immediately, for the contest closes positively at midnight next Saturday evening.

If you will do this, there will be no regrets after midnight next Saturday.

INTERNATIONAL FORTRESS

The citadel at Aleppo, Arabia, has long been fought over by nations which have sought to gain power in the desert peninsula. Built on a high hill, which Mohammedan tradition says is supported by 8000 massive columns, the citadel was taken in 1400

A. D. by Tamerlane, who entered through Bab-ul-Hadia (The Iron Gate). With 50,000 men, he marched up the hill to wrest the old fortress from the Syrians. Legend states that Tamerlane was forced to sacrifice 10,000 men to form a human bridge over the water-filled moat surrounding Aleppo so that he could march to the citadel with the rest of his force. Aleppo has been occupied in turn by Egyptians, Persians, Arabians, Turks, and, recently, by the French Foreign Legion. The center of the great caravan trade between Bagdad and Damascus, Aleppo still carries on important export and import trade.

ELKS HONOR 16 PIONEERS OF S. A. LODGE

ing interest and support of the brothers on our sidelines made it possible for the officers of this lodge to carry out their hopes and ambitions.

"And so, charter members, past exalted rulers, brothers who have held membership for 20 years or more, Santa Ana lodge No. 794 in regular session on this 12th day of July, 1938, recognizes and accepts the golden, priceless heritage that has come down to us through the years because of your labor and your sacrifice. A golden heritage because the minds and hands of departed brothers have helped fashion it. A priceless heritage because the efforts of real, true men have built it, a heritage born in the spirit of giving, not of taking.

"To you brothers who have joined our lodge in recent years, this heritage is yours and mine. Ours to use, enjoy and prize. We see the flower full blown, we have the ripened grain, we reap the harvest of the years.

"The reason our secretary can show with pride nearly $100,000 in his annual report, the reason his records show nearly $1,000,000 has passed through his office, the reason our leading knights have been able to distribute to their various charities over $50,000, the reason that over 2500 men have been drawn before our altar to take our obligation, and that from our membership have gone forth the men who have founded and organized the lodges of Long Beach, Anaheim and Orange.

"Yes, charter members, the rapture of your high resolve still ripples on our horizon, and above the clouds of uncertainty and doubt which darken the skies of our social and economic life, and against that obsession which seems to have gripped men's souls and made of them takers only instead of givers, your faith and your work shines as the noon-day sun. We will ever appreciate your worth, we will ever cherish your memory, we will ever hold fast to your ideals. We claim you as our pioneers. Hail, pioneers, hail!"

JUDGE HARDY FILM HERE

The most amusing chapter in the now famous life of the Judge Hardy family is offered in "Love Finds Andy Hardy," which opens today at the West Coast theater.

"Love Finds Andy Hardy" is the funniest and best of the lot, according to advance notices.

Lewis Stone makes his third appearance as Judge Hardy. Mickey Rooney is a 15-year-old boy who gets himself into more trouble than seems possible. Judy Garland, added to the cast, sings and acts.

A newcomer, Lana Turner, is the menace. Others in the cast include Fay Holden, Cecilia Parker, Betty Ross Clarke and Douglas McPhail. The story relates the dilemma which Mickey Rooney encounters when he buys a second-hand car without his father's knowledge. To pay the final installment on the car, he agrees to take care of his best friend's girl while the boy is away on vacation.

"Mystery House," the story of how a wealthy man is slain at his remote hunting lodge and how Detective Lance O'Leary found the killer, is the second feature. Dick Purcell plays the sleuth in the melodrama. Ann Sheridan is a nurse who suspects a crime has been committed.

Short subjects include a Pete Smith specialty, "Story of Dr. Carver," and World News events.

Woman Held in L. A., She Insists She's Not There

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Catherine Roache, who insisted she was in Philadelphia when she arrived here last night, was being held by police for observation today.

When Mrs. Roache alighted from a Santa Fe train, accompanied by her 6-year-old son, Ronald, she asked a taxi driver to take her to 1315 North Camarillo street. Unable to find the address, the cab driver finally took the woman to the police station for assistance.

Mrs. Roache told Detective Lieut. Ray Glese she could not remember how she happened to arrive here. Nor was young Ronald able to enlighten the officer.

Pending word from her husband, said to be Thomas Roache of Philadelphia, Mrs. Roache was booked as a missing person. Ronald was taken care of at juvenile hall.

Keep Our Boys Out Of Spain!

The recent incident of one Seattle group holding a memorial service for a young American killed in Spain, while at the same time the boy's father decried the use of American volunteers in that civil war, again focuses the spotlight on American participation in the Spanish war. Undoubtedly those youngsters who volunteer in either the loyalist or the nationalist armies do so from idealistic motives—although it is a little difficult to fit idealism in with killing and raiding and bombing.

However, in satisfying their own idealism and craving for adventure, these volunteers are in a definite manner endangering the peace of America.

It is easy to say they are acting as individuals, in no way representing this nation. But they cannot help but antagonize their foes against this country.

Take a hypothetical case: Suppose Germany declared war on this country and sent over an invading army in super-dirigibles. If we learned that thousands of Italians had volunteered in that army, and were fighting us, we couldn't help but feel angry at Italy. That is human nature.

As soon as the volunteers on either side are captured by their enemy, relatives over here immediately demand that our state department try to free them.

In going to war, our young men cannot shed all the responsibility of their Americanism. So it is up to older and cooler heads, to fathers and mothers, to keep our boys out of Europe's fights, to protect the peaceful existence of the 120,000,000 other Americans.

The president of a Toledo, Ohio, bank borrowed $160,000 to produce three plays he had written. The plays failed, and the depositors footed the bill. Which indicates that bankers might do better to stick to sordid commercialism.

The Eternal Light

The eternal light of peace, recently dedicated on the battlefield of Gettysburg, is one of the fairest symbols of this nation's good intent and its determination that it shall always hereafter work out its problems without resort to violence and bloodshed.

A 40-foot shaft of enduring stone is topped by a light that is designed to glow forever. And on the sides of the stone shaft are inscribed the words, "With firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right." And, "An enduring light to guide us in unity and fellowship."

Such symbols are exactly as meaningful and as enduring as the purpose behind them. They have the additional great value, however, of reminding of that purpose during times of stress, when even the best of purposes might otherwise be forgotten.

The eternal light of peace at Gettysburg is far more than a monument to the thousands of national brothers who were slain on both sides of a national conflict. It is far more than a memorial to the martyred president whose words are sculptured on its side. It is a pledge to all people and for all time down through the ages that these have not died in vain, that their sacrifice has cemented this greatest of nations into an indivisible, peace-loving whole.

When Americans take to giving that straight-arm salute there'll be a Nazi at the business end of it—on his way out.

Oscar's Recipe

Oscar of the Waldorf is as near to being a national institution as men in prosaic, workaday jobs often get. The rotund, jolly gentleman has managed the cuisine of one of New York's better-known hotels for several decades.

Guest-conducting for a New York columnist recently, Oscar wrote, in conclusion: "I regard myself as one of the happiest men on earth. I love my wife, my family, my home and my job, and I have no regrets—could anyone ask for more?"

No, Oscar, no one could legitimately ask for more. We wish this noted recipe-originator had gone beyond his "conclusion," in the most entertaining column he wrote, and had given all concerned the recipe for his happy life.

For so happy a life is not an accident—that most of us know. Happiness is carefully planned, diligently worked, painstakingly nurtured. He who has developed a workable recipe should by all means pass it along to the never-ending throngs that are forever seeking the same goal, most of them only more or less successfully.

Strange Bedfellows

"The unspeakable Turk" of World war days has been welcomed as an ally by France and Britain. The honey-tongued diplomats of France have won from Turkey a pact under which either would immediately cease all commerce with an aggressor attacking the other. Britain is in the process of lending the equivalent of $80,000,000 to Turkey, a part of the sum avowedly to be used for the purchase of armaments.

Spokesmen for Britain deny any intent to "encircle" Germany with armed nations beholden to Britain, and France doubtless would deny any similar intent or a related purpose to embarrass Italy in her trade and source of supplies in case of a French-Italian breach.

From the sidelines we can only ponder, and marvel at the uses and misuses of the modern system of diplomacy. The only general comment that occurs to us at the moment is that diplomacy, like politics, makes strange bedfellows.

Nation's Capitol

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON.—We have been hearing little from businessmen except gloom and predictions of defeat for so long that it is a relief to see some businessmen trying to change the tune.

There is the man who writes advertising for John Wanamaker. It puts to shame calamity-howling executives like the one Roosevelt recently cited who, drawing a handsome salary, tells his stockholders that a minimum wage of $11 a week will ruin the country. It puts to shame those who, because they don't like Roosevelt, lie down and say the country is going to Hell in a hack.

Wanamaker's copy writer does himself a half-page advertising essay which could well be framed not only in every business office but over the desk of every salesman, every editorial writer, yes and every newspaper columnist, for we are probably the loudest calamity-howlers of all.

Here it is: Wanamaker has published a better column than I can write on the subject so here is part of it:

"In the early 1800's some people started colonies in what is now the United States. They landed sick, scurvy and full of hope. Crops failed, many starved, many died. The Indians, changing from friendliness to anger, swooped down on them to scalp and torture and burn. With scanty tools, the first settlers faced the horrors of sickness, hunger, sudden death, loneliness. They did not lose hope. They dreamed of a great America. They began to build it.

"In 1873, after the Revolutionary war, this America was an exhausted little handful of states, despoiled of many brave sons, with stripped treasury, valueless bills—practically bankrupt. The people did not lose hope. They believed in a greater America. They built it.

"In 1865, after the Civil war, this nation was a ruined and a gloomier of states, despoiled of many brave sons, with many homes ruined. Things did not mend. In 1873, over-expansion, depression and panic ended railway building, prostrated the iron industry, stagnated business. The people did not lose hope. They believed in a greater America. They built it.

"In 1938, the United States is a mighty nation, with the greatest resources in the world. It has enough automobiles to take every one of its 130,000,000 people riding. America grows 23 per cent of the world's wheat, produces 70 per cent of the world's oil. It operates 50 per cent of the world's telephone and telegraph facilities. With 7 per cent of the world's population it carries 70 per cent of the world's life insurance. But it has problems. And it has the jitters.

"Don't let us forget the Indians and all the titanic struggles our forefathers won. Remembering them, our problems don't loom so large. Remembering them, we are spurred to win our own fight. We, too, believe in a greater America."

Idle Can't Buy
There is considerable beefing about the coming antimonopoly investigation. It is going to undermine confidence. So we are told.

We have this tremendous industrial and food-growing plant, standing half idle or else producing goods that lie unused because so many people are out of work and can't afford to buy. The steel industry holds up its prices when production slumps to 25 per cent of capacity. When I ask some questions about that, a big steel man, Ernest Weir, writes to the newspapers an indignant letter explaining why steel can't reduce its price. A few days later steel reduces its price, leaving Mr. Weir to crawl back off the limb as best he can.

Any child—certainly the children of many an unemployed father—can see that something is wrong. Nobody knows exactly what it is. So we are setting up a joint congressional and executive investigating committee. We ask what we can do about it. That is like a middle-aged man, who suspects the old pump isn't what it used to be, going to his doctor to be checked over.

But there are people afraid to have their doctors look them over. They might have to cut down to five cigars a day in order to live longer.

THE HEART SPEAKS

Bishop Tucker, famed missionary (first to the destitute of a great city, later to the black meat of Africa), was in early life an artist.

For quite a while he had labored at his easel in a mood of unaccountable depression, until one day his troubled thoughts resolved themselves into one question. He was painting a picture which he called "Homeless." It depicted a poor woman carrying a babe in her arms, struggling along a desolate, wind-swept street on a cold winter's night.

Suddenly Tucker threw down his brush and cried out, "Why should I go on painting poverty and loneliness, and do nothing to rescue those who are poor and lonely?"

From that instant he ceased to be an artist, and consecrated his life to the service of needy humanity.—Christian Science Monitor.

Howdy, folks! This is the season when small boys, returning from a vacation at the beach, bring home a dead fish, which they carefully hide behind the bookcase and forget.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

ABOARD THE PRESIDENT'S TRAIN. The president should not have to go to great lengths to secure the re-nomination of his friend Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah, because he has already gone down the line for Thomas in a way which must have made Senator Robinson turn over in his grave.

For in the closing days of congress, unobserved by the general public, Roosevelt sent to the senate the name of Edgar Brossard for reappointment as a member of the tariff commission.

The appointment may be contrasted with the fact that democratic attacks on Brossard once were just as bitter as the republicans are in castigating Harry Hopkins for engaging in politics.

Brossard was a Utah lobbyist for the Mormon beet sugar interests, whom Senator Reed Smoot, a high official in the church, got appointed to the tariff commission at a time when the tariff on sugar was under consideration.

Later, when the democrats forced an investigation of sugar, the late Senator Joe Robinson secured testimony from Brossard that he had had nothing to do with consideration of the tariff on sugar.

But after this the books of the night watchman were produced showing that Brossard had come to the tariff commission every night that the sugar report was being written, sometimes remaining there until 2:30 a.m.

Criticism of Brossard was so intense that it was only the powerful influence of Senator Reed Smoot which secured his reappointment by Hoover in 1931. No democrat dreamed, at that time, that a democratic president would ever reappoint him for another seven years.

Nevertheless, Roosevelt did. Reason: Senator Elbert Thomas is under fire from the Mormon church (one of the biggest sugar growers in the world), and it wanted Brossard re-appointed. So with Thomas facing a hard primary fight, the president obliged.

Bumpers
They have a very neat system on this train for getting rid of "visiting firemen" who persist in taking up the president's time. They use what the newsmen call "bumpers."

When a local politico has had the president's ear too long, one of his secretaries quietly signals a member of the White House party. The latter approaches and with a regretful smile to the visitor says, "Pardon me, Mr. President, but that matter you asked me to prepare for you is in your room."

"Thank you, thank you," the president replies and then to his caller, "You'll pardon me, won't you? Some papers that have to get off at once."

Subversive "bumpers" on the train is Lawrence (Chip) Robert, secretary of the democratic national committee, whose Georgia charm and wit have few equals in the political arena.

Utah continues to be a New Deal state, but the leaders of the Mormon church certainly have no love for Roosevelt. One of their clashes has been over the handling of relief money, which for a long time was administered by the Mormon church itself.

The Mormons finally abandoned their plan of providing relief for their own poor, even though they boasted it to be the finest system in the country, and succumbed to the acceptance of federal funds.

But in doing so, WPA officials discovered that Mormon relievers were paying their tithes to the church out of WPA funds. This amounts to one-tenth of all each member gets from the government.

Harry Hopkins' office argued emphatically against this—with no luck. Finally, two members of the Utah state relief board requested Sylvester Q. Cannon, presiding bishop of the church, to issue a statement that Mormons seeking public aid did not have to make tithing payments.

To this Bishop Cannon replied: "I most certainly will not do that. I wouldn't be a party to robbing a bank, or these poor people of their churchly blessings."

Ohio Aftermath
An aftermath of the president's hit-and-run endorsement of Senator Robert Bulkley in the Maletta, Ohio, speech is the story told on the train that it did not disturb former Governor George White, who is running against him. White was on the platform with Bulkley when the president spoke.

"What did you think of it?" asked a friend.
"Oh, it wasn't much," drawled White. "The president dragged the endorsement in by the neck and he wasn't pulling very much when he did it."

Note—Local politicians told the president privately that Bulkley would lick White by a good margin.

ILLICIT TRADE
The federal radio commission last week refused to grant a radio-telephone license to a gambling ship anchored off the coast of Long Beach.

The law has failed to reach these ships that violate California's laws just beyond the jurisdiction of California courts. The federal communications commission took cognizance of this situation and, quite rightly, refused to give any comfort to the illicit trade.—Santa Barbara News-Press

H. M. S. FANTASTIC
The rollicking lilt of the old-time sailor's hornpipe bids fair to enliven the daily duties of Australian naval rats once more. It seems that one Chief Petty Officer Grigor's flighty-footed penchant for the hornpipe has so impressed his shipmates that Commander Spurgeon of the Rushcutters bay depot has described the traditional dance of Deadeye Dick's day as a compulsory part of training routine.

Apparently one pulsating selection from Mr. Grigor's robust repertoire was enough to convince his commanding officer that there is nothing like a hearty hornpipe to tickle the terpsichorean tendencies of even the most sober-sided shellback. Thus the official order is passed along the berthed decks that sailors at the Rushcutters depot shall henceforth do their daily dozen to the romantic tune of "Liverpool Jack" or maybe, "The Sailor's Bride." A splendid form of exercise, Commander Spurgeon asserts. The steps are not listless like most modern dances. To which, exponents of that modern specialty entitled the "Big Apple" probably will reply, "What'd you mean, listless?" Or words to that effect.—Christian Science Monitor.

I am convinced that the small business man will have to make his own breaks.

—DeWitt M. Emery, president of the National Small Businessmen's association.

I find it isn't half as amusing to have money as it is to live beyond a non-existent income.

Prosperity, as every sensible man knows, consists of volume multiplied by velocity.

I'll TELL YOU....
BY BOB BURNS

I don't believe that authors and artists are any more temperamental than anybody else. I believe that it's perfectly natural for anybody to be sensitive about something they create themselves.

I was talking to a sales manager of a firm out here the other day and he said, "I don't mind my stenographer chawin' gum, powdering, painting or loafing, but it sure gets me when she yawns while I'm dictating one of my snappy sales letters."

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to its Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

HERE'S A HOT IDEA

To the Editor: Upward, ever upward, go taxes.

The Journal reported the other day that a boost in our rate would be due to increased welfare department costs.

I also saw a story in the paper that 20,000 persons received federal money in the month of May, and that between now and Jan. 1, 1938, 40,000,000 in the nation would get federal money in the form of relief, soil conservation checks or from some other activity of the government.

The cost of our schools, rightfully, will never be reduced. The cost of maintenance of county government itself, the various county offices, I mean—is pretty well standardized.

But the sky's the limit when it comes to welfare, and the cost of that new governmental agency may actually grow to the point where it exceeds the cost of schools.

I realize that many honest and worthy citizens are supported by the welfare department. I also realize that there is likely to be some chiselers by those who cannot resist the lure of something for nothing. Also, it's a known fact that children in a financial position to support aged parents have shovels the responsibility off on the welfare department.

The welfare department needs a purge of publicity. Every dollar handed out to a welfare client has to be earned by someone. That's a fact that many a welfare-supported person overlooks. Money does not grow on trees—not even on orange trees, this year.

My idea of a publicity purge is this: A newspaper should print a complete list of all getting money from the welfare department and the amounts they receive. With this list, the newspaper should invite readers to report on the taxpayers the welfare clients who have prosperous close relatives, the ones who have concealed assets so as to make the roll, etc.

The honest, deserving person on the relief roll certainly could not object. The chiseler would, however, be exposed.

In casual conversation a political speech or a sales talk, a plea for some "cause," two fundamental principles of propaganda cited by Dr. Helge Lundholm, of Duke university, may aid you.

Turning to Shakespeare, and other such "connoisseurs of human nature," Dr. Lundholm has studied some of the most brilliant persuasive speeches of all time.

When you try to influence people, the first thing to remember, it seems, is that men have a way of believing in what they strongly desire. You might get a child, or an adult for that matter, to accept your dictum because he believes you an authority or because he respects your opinion. But "a man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still."

Even if you put him in a hypnotic trance, you can't tell him what to believe, he might be persuaded but would later correct his opinion unless he wanted to believe it. If the suggestion was actually revolting to him in the first place, he would not accept it but would be jolted out of his trance.

Dr. Lundholm found in his studies reported to "Character and Personality."

But when a child comes to you crying because someone has told her there is no Santa Claus, it is a matter to persuade her that the old saint will return next Christmas.

The second principle is that man tends to believe what fits in with or at least is not contrary to, his present store of tested knowledge.

Comparing the unsuccessful propaganda speech of Shakespeare's Brutus with the much more effective, although partly hypocritical, speech of Mark Anthony, Dr. Lundholm noted that Brutus spoke authoritatively and appealed to the abstract sentiments of respect for the state and political justice. Mark Anthony roused the greed of his hearers and their sympathies. He made his points by implication in the form of irony; thus rousing his audience to their own aggressive decisions instead of telling them directly what to believe.

He set up forces that would go on independent of him, by rousing the greed of his hearers and their sympathies. He made his points by implication in the form of irony; thus rousing his audience to their own aggressive decisions instead of telling them directly what to believe.
